Quick Start Guide

Irregular income budgets work best when you plan from your lowest expected month. This kit helps you cover essentials first, then decide what to do with extra income when it arrives.

How it works (5 steps):

1

Pick your baseline income (the lowest amount you can count on).

2

Build a baseline budget that covers essentials and minimums.

3

Track income as it comes in and assign it using the High-Month Plan.

4

Build a small buffer so bills are covered even in low weeks.

5

Use sinking funds for variable bills (car repairs, insurance, holidays).

Tip: Base your plan on the worst-case month. Extra income becomes a bonus plan.

Income Tracker

Track each deposit. This helps you see patterns and plan better.

Baseline Budget (Low Month)

Plan from your lowest month so you're covered even when income dips.

High Month Plan (When Extra Income Hits)

When income is higher, follow this order so extra money actually helps you.

Priority order for extra income:

1	Catch up on any past-due bills
2	Build/restore buffer (get 1 month ahead)
3	Fund sinking funds (car repairs, insurance, holidays)
4	Extra debt payments (highest interest or snowball)
5	Savings goals (emergency fund, investing)
6	Fun money (planned so you don't feel deprived)

Tip: Decide your priority order BEFORE the money arrives so you don't spend it accidentally.

Buffer Builder + Sinking Funds Setup

Build a buffer so low weeks don't throw you off. Set up sinking funds for big bills.
