Quick Start Guide

Overdrafts happen when your bank balance doesn't match your real balance. This system keeps a 'Safe-to-Spend' number so you always know what you can spend.

Do this first (5 steps):

1

List every bill that auto-drafts (subscriptions, utilities, loans).

2

Set a Buffer Amount you will never touch (ex. $50-200).

3

Track pending transactions and upcoming drafts in the Safe-to-Spend Tracker.

4

Turn off overdraft coverage if you prefer declined transactions over fees.

5

Move due dates or autopay dates to match your paydays when possible.

Tip: Fewer surprises = fewer fees. Your Safe-to-Spend number is your truth.

Safe-to-Spend Tracker

Safe-to-spend = bank balance minus upcoming drafts and your buffer.

Bank Balance Today		Buffer Amount (do not spend)
Upcoming Drafts /	Amount	Date	Cleared? (Y/N)

Bill Buffer Rules + Account Setup

Use these rules to stop surprise drafts and keep your account stable.

Rule	What to do
Rule #1: One Buffer	Keep a fixed buffer amount you never spend (example: $100).
Rule #2: Bills-Only Account (optional)	Use one account for bills + one for spending (if possible).
Rule #3: Autopays on 1–2 days	Choose 1–2 days per month for most autopays (align with paydays).
Rule #4: Turn on alerts	Low balance + large transaction + overdraft alerts (text/email).
Rule #5: Pause subscriptions	Cancel/pause anything not essential until you're stable.

Autopay + Due Date Calendar

Write your paydays + due dates. Move due dates where possible to reduce overdrafts.

Bill	Due Date	Autopay Date	Amount	Notes

Overdraft Prevention Checklist + Scripts

Use the checklist weekly. Use scripts if you get hit with fees.

Weekly checklist:

- Check pending transactions and upcoming drafts.
- Update Safe-to-Spend (Bank – Drafts – Buffer).
- Move money into bills account (if using 2-account method).
- Cancel/pause any subscription you forgot about.
- Confirm autopays are scheduled after payday.

Fee Waiver Script (call/chat):

Hi, I'm calling about overdraft fees on my account. I'm working to avoid this going forward and I'd like to request a one-time courtesy refund of the fees. I've updated my account settings and set alerts. Can you waive the fees and confirm my current balance?

Confirm in Writing (message/email):

Thanks for your help today. Please confirm the fee waiver/refund amount [$____] and the updated account balance [$____].
